REPUBLATION.

If it were worth while to inquire into the motives which impel the New York Herald to a particular course, one would: often be at a less to find any that could explain its curious and continual contradictions, and the very extraordinary mode in which it often discusses public affairs. Sometimes it seems to mack the public, sometimes to wish to mystify it, sometimes to checkle with glee at the symptoms of that terrible anarchy which precedes the establishment of despotism.

When the Southern States secoled, the Herald evidently rejoiced at it. It patronized the new Confederacy, and applauded the changes made in the Federal Constitution, upon adopting it for the Confederacy. Since then, no journal has been more bitter than the Herald, against the people of the South. If there Iwany real key to its course for the last twenty years, (and we think there is), it is a deep-rooted hatred of the American people, of their Government, and of Republicanism, and exultation at every thing which shows that the United States, accepting the tyranny of the majority in the stead of constitutional Government, and drifting into anarchy, are doomed to a speedy destruction. It certainly rejoices at all the distractions, quarrels, corruptions and follies of the Nation, and uses all its immense influence to provoke, exasperate and inflame, and delights in showing up all the vices, corruptions and diseases of the body

A little while ago it proposed for a ticket in 1868, Gen. GRANT for President and Gen. LEE for Vice-President; though LEE is unpardoned and under indictment in Underwood's Court for treason. Now, the release of President Davis on ball has given it an opportunity to pour oil upon the fire of Northern anger and hatred, of which it eagerly avails itself, and at the same time preaches repudiation, on the ground that if Mr. Davis was not guilty of treason, the North fought the war and incurred an immense debt, for nothing, and therefore
